Jenny Carson studied for her master's degree in vocal performance at the Royal Northern College of Music, where she performed the principal roles of Emmie Albert Herring, Lucy Paradise Moscow and Jenny Company.

She was also the featured actress in Mendelssohn's A Midsummer Night's Dream, conducted by Sir Mark Elder. Since graduating, Jenny has developed and performed in a musical revuestyle show called 'Climbing Uphill' for the Greater Manchester Fringe Festival. She also sings with cabaret group 'Voices and Lyrics', who promote contemporary musical theatre in the North-West, and regularly performs and records the work of contemporary composers.

Most recently, Jenny has been working with Feelgood Theatre Productions in Heaton Park, playing Peaseblossom and Snug in A Midsummer Night's Dream
